Description:

Review Vickies compassionate approach and insight into the moving and downsizing process gives you the necessary tools to ensure a smooth and satisfying move experience. --Barry J. Izsak, President, National Association of Professional Organizers

This will help you understand that it is not just about stuff , it is also about the memories, emotions, and life stages that stuff represents. --Peg Guild, President of the National Association of Senior Move Managers

A book that guarantees a happy ending! With a heart for seniors and wisdom that can only come from experience, Vickie will expertly guide you down the road to a successful move. --Donna Smallin, Author, The One-Minute Organizer Plain & Simple

About the Author Vickie Dellaquila is a professional organizer and senior move manager, and president of Organization Rules, Inc., based in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Through her business she has helped many clients de-clutter, organize, and simplify their lives. She uses her background in nursing and social services to help seniors downsize and relocate. Her expertise enables her to answer questions like: I have lived in a five-bedroom, two-story home for the past 47 years and need to downsize and move. How do I start? Vickie is a member of the National Association of Professional Organizers (NAPO) and a founding member of NAPO Pittsburgh. She is a current board member and marketing director for NAPO Pittsburgh, and a member of both the National Association of Senior Move Managers (NASMM) and the National Study Group on Chronic Disorganization (NSGCD). For more information please visit: www.OrganizationRules.com
