Description:

Review "A tremendous achievement." --James Baldwin, author

"Manchild in the Promised Land is Claude Brown's unforgettable epic of growing up as a boy on the streets of Harlem. His Zola-esque gift for slices of life is made all the more striking by his brilliant insights into character and social pressures." --Tom Wolfe, author

"The first thing I ever read which gave me an idea of what it would be like day by day if I'd grown up in Harlem." --Norman Mailer, author

"It is written with brutal and unvarnished honesty in the plain talk of the people, in language that is fierce, uproarious, obscene, and tender." --Romulus Linney, New York Times Book Review

"Sometimes a unique voice speaks out so clearly and with so much passion that it comes to speak for an era, a generation, a people . . . and we have to listen." --Los Angeles Times

"Incredible! No Negro writer ever told the whole street thing in Harlem: Claude Brown is the first." -
-New York Herald Tribune

"He writes about his life - and Harlem - with frank, brutal, and beautiful power. Mr. Brown's graphic narrative will make you laugh, cry, think, and possibly understand." --Atlanta Journal

About the Author Claude Brown was born in New York City and grew up in Harlem. At age seventeen, after serving several terms in reform school, he left Harlem for Greenwich Village. He went on to receive a bachelor's degree from Howard University and attended law school. He also wrote a book called The Children of Ham in 1976. Manchild in the Promised Land evolved from an article he published in Dissent magazine during his first year at college. He died in 2002 at the age of 64.

Nathan McCall, author of Makes Me Wanna Holler, has worked as a journalist for The Washington Post. Currently, he teaches in the African American Studies Department at Emory University and lives in Atlanta, Georgia.
